

A stylized, painterly illustration of the Chicago skyline at sunset. The buildings are rendered in dark blue and black, with the sky transitioning from warm orange and yellow near the horizon to a lighter, hazy blue at the top. The overall style is textured and artistic.

19th ANNUAL CHICAGO SYMPOSIUM SERIES

Excellence in Teaching Mathematics and Science: Research and Practice

A forum for college and university faculty and graduate students in education, mathematics, and science devoted to improving teaching and learning of mathematics and science.

Roosevelt University

Friday, February 3, 2017
10:00 am – 5:00 pm

SAM PAZICNI

Associate Professor of Chemistry
University of New Hampshire

K. ANN RENNINGER

Professor of Educational Studies
Swarthmore College

Northwestern University

Thursday, April 13, 2017
10:00 am – 5:00 pm

JACQUELINE LEONARD

Professor of Elementary and
Early Childhood Education
University of Wyoming

KATHRYN SCANTLEBURY

Professor of Chemistry and Biochemistry
University of Delaware

www.math.uic.edu/chicagosymposia

*The 2017 symposia are partially supported by the Illinois Board of Higher Education; Roosevelt University: Department of Mathematics and Actuarial Science;
Northwestern University: Chemistry Department, Mathematics Department, Program in Biological Sciences, Searle Center for Advancing Learning and Teaching, and Weinberg College of Arts and Sciences.*